

NOELLE WILHITE | Project Architect

Noelle Wilhite brings 12 years of professional experience in the capacity of Project Management, Project Architect, BIM and Operations Management. Most recently, she has served as BIM Manager, Project Manager, and Project Architect for multi-family and single family residential projects throughout the Roaring Fork Valley, Vail Valley, San Miguel, Summit, Routt, and Jefferson Counties. She has lived in Basalt, Colorado for the past five years.

Noelle's experience spans from single and multi-family residential, affordable housing, large scale commercial and corporate mixed-use projects, and LEED certification. Noelle's work over the past six years has focused on residential development and affordable housing in Colorado mountain communities as Project Architect/Manager specializing in project execution and delivery.

Noelle has a passion for managing creative, complex projects with unique technical challenges. She is detail-oriented and thorough in her approach, focusing on creating processes and systems to clarify project goals and keep projects on schedule and on budget. Noelle is dedicated to consistent communication and a collaborative team effort to drive design impact on both immediate and long term client needs. Her range of experiences with a variety of project sizes, types, and locations, diverse project teams, and various office cultures give her a wide-lens perspective and the agility and follow-through to deliver on project goals.
